

Planned Gifts to Crisis Connections

Crisis Connections welcomes legacy gifts through your estate plan or will. Legacy or planned gifts are most often simple, unrestricted bequests that can be easily gifted from your estate post-probate or by making Crisis Connections a beneficiary of an IRA or an annuity.

Gifts of property or other assets can also benefit Crisis Connections. These options will ultimately support Crisis Connections crisis response, continued care and basic needs navigation now and in the future.

Sample bequest language

As you consider a legacy gift to Crisis Connections through your will, you and your estate planning professional may find it helpful to have the following wording for different types of bequest provisions.

- Specific sum of money: "I give to Crisis Connections the sum of [insert here the exact dollar amount]."
- Rest and residue of estate after paying debts, taxes, expenses, and other bequests: "I give to Crisis Connections all [or a stated percentage] of the rest, residue, and remainder of my estate."
- Contingent bequest if you are not survived by certain individuals: "If [name/s of primary beneficiary/ies] do/es not survive me, or shall die within ninety (90) days from the date of my death, or as a result of a common disaster, then I give to Crisis Connections, [insert here the exact dollar amount, description of property, or percentage of residual estate]."
- Specific property such as, stocks, bonds, works of art, or other items: "I give to Crisis Connections, [insert here a description of the particular property]."
